Fermanagh women will share their experiences of how they live and work in a rural area with women from other regions of Europe tomorrow (Friday).

Women from Poland, Hungary, Cyprus, Turkey and Spain will visit businesses run by women in rural areas of Fermanagh.

The visit is hosted by Heather McLaughlin and Teresa O'Loughlin who are both members of the Network for Enterprising Women in Fermanagh.

The group will visit local women who are running a variety of businesses from their homes in rural Fermanagh including: Anne Rutledge, Tudor Farm Guest House; Linda Harron, Swicks Candles; Fiona Kerr: Fiona Kerry jewellery; Sadaf Cooney, Yogo Food and Mary Redmond, Redmond Ace Accounting.

The visit is part of an EU funded project called European Network for Women in Rural Areas (ENWR) which is aimed at exploring the difficulties faced by women who are involved in rural businesses and how these difficulties can be overcome. Over the last three years, women have been involved in a series of seminars and workshops in the region sharing ideas, experiences and the various solutions which have been taken place.
