09.10.2013. Participants from Turkey, Northern Ireland, Hungary, Poland, and Germany were met by Laura Vallés and Angela Gonzalvo. The group had the opportunity to see Valencia and enjoy the Day of the Valencian Community Celebration. After the dinner group at a tapas restaurant at Plaza de la Catedral they went to Rubielos the Mora, in Aragon Community.

10.10.2013: Teruel, guided tour to Teruel, a historical city with beautiful Mudejar architecture, World Heritage site since 2001. An introduction was given about the Mudejar style and history. The tour continued to the public sculpture by José Gonzalvo, that celebrates local traditions in Teruel. The group then had lunch and tasted the local gastronomy.
In the afternoon the participants arrived at Gonzalvo Museum in Rubielos de Mora, where they were welcomed by Gonzalvo’s widow, daughter and the Museum staff.

After a short break we continued with the presentations from all the participants, their organizations and projects.

Patricia Araya, the Lanzadera project manager, gave an introduction to the project Lanzadera (Shuttle) a research in textile history together with local women.

After this the Lanzadera project held a meeting with the region's women. Victor Sanz, president of the Region Council, welcomed our European partners and the local women as well.

“To value craftsmanship, in a collective sense, is an action that enables us to follow a common path in the future Europe”.

REGION: http://www.gudarjavalambre.es/municipios-gj
11.10.2013: At 9:30 meeting at the Museo Gonzalvo conference room, the group discussed the project work plan, aims and objectives.

We spent the afternoon debating about European rural women's situation, the participants presented their countries.

Matilde Soto from AGUJAMA-LEADER (European Network for Rural Development) made a review of rural women current situation in our region.

“European women share a similar situation when it comes to the issues of women's work opportunities, women are often more highly qualified than men but still unemployment is higher for women. They are forced to take several minijobs or emigrate”

Later on, participants were invited to meet the mayor at the Council House. Gift exchange between the participants and the mayor.
After dinner the group joined the village festivities, the “Rondallas” (group of serenaders) and to the polish participants surprise the serenaders sung in polish for them!

From a mansion balcony the participants could see the night bull game “toro bravo”.

JOTA IN POLISH:
12.10.2013:

We devoted the morning distributing the tasks for the project ENWRA between the participants. We farewelled some of the group returning back to their countries.

Some of the remaining participants enjoyed the Aragon Community Celebration, with traditional spanish aperitif and bull games.